What's New in the?

Author: PassFab, Inc. WebSite: Description:
You know how your Outlook.com address is all the same? It's an easy way to label the parts of your Inbox, the primary recipient or the important part of your mail. For those who have an email address of the same name, it's a must-have feature that's also backed up in the cloud. That can help you sort the mail you're receiving into the right section. Now you can have the same Outlook.com feature on all your devices with the Inbox@Addrs app. This is an add-on to the Outlook.com app for Android that makes it easy to label the different parts of your inbox. With Inbox@Addrs, you can simply add multiple labels to your Inbox and the emails are automatically assigned to the corresponding label. You can change labels even while your emails are still in your Inbox. The app is easy to use, but you do have to be connected to the Internet in order to sync. The app will keep your labels and their position on your device. How to install: - From the Play Store - Search for “Inbox@Addr” - Install Inbox@Addr - Open the app and login with your Outlook.com account How to use: - Go to the settings menu and select the section for labels - Choose the label you want to use - Select a style from the dropdown list - Scroll down to the bottom and tap Add - Name your label How to remove: - Go to the settings menu and select the section for labels - Select the label you want to remove - Select Remove How to change labels: - Go to the settings menu and select the section for labels - Select the label you want to use - Select a style from the dropdown list - Scroll down to the bottom and tap Edit - Choose the label you want to use - Select Save - Confirm Supported devices: - iPhone - iPod Touch - iPad - Nexus - Samsung
