Mac.Q: Create temporary table from 2 SELECT statements I have the following: select t.value from table1 t, table2 s where (t.type = s.type and t.name = s.name and t.month = s.month) This query works fine. But I need to have a new temporary table with the results of the query as new columns and inserted into another table. CREATE TABLE `TEMP_MAPPING` AS select t.value, s.value from table1 t, table2 s where (t.type = s.type and t.name = s.name and t.month = s.month) I receive error: "You have an error in your SQL syntax; check the manual that corresponds to your MySQL server version for the right syntax to use near 'AS'select t.value, s.value from table1 t, table2 s where (t.type = s.type' at line 6" This syntax does not work. What is the correct way to perform the operation?

A: You must create the table in the same select statement. Something like select t.value, s.value from table1 t, table2 s will suffice. It is possible to write a query with temporary table. In this case, the structure of the table is determined while executing the query and an error occurs when you try to modify the table structure. For example, if the creation of temporary table fails CREATE TEMPORARY TABLE tstmt ( x int ); SELECT COUNT(*) FROM tstmt; -- You get an error -- Error Code: 12
